

Disclaimer & Copyrights

DISCLAIMER: PR unplugged.com does not claim to be a certified Ph.D. physician or psychologist, but is well-educated and experienced enough to give advice and support in any of the subjects offered. All information shared by PR unplugged.com is for educational purposes only and does not substitute medical care in case of severe trauma or abuse. In these cases, we will advise contacting your GP or to reach out to a certified physician or psychologist.

Copyrights© PR unplugged.com theories, findings, and formulas are a combination of personal experiences, marketing researches, (scientific) studies and literature. If used, any references to the resources of origin will be made in the text and materials accordingly. PR unplugged.com owns all rights to any written/taped and video materials signed with and by PR unplugged.com. Therefore, copying or sharing any of the materials will have legal consequences. We would appreciate the kind collaboration in not doing so.

Trademark™ PR unplugged.com owns trademark rights, therefore copying or using information with the PR unplugged.com brand will have legal consequences. We would appreciate the kind collaboration in not doing so.
